Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Will Carleton: A Biographical Study In giving this little study to the public, I desire to especially acknowledge my thanks to Mr. Carleton s niece by marriage, Mrs. Norman E. Goodrich, who so kindly aided me in its preparation by placing at my disposal all memoranda in the form of letters, unpublished manuscript and diaries, which were found among the Poet s relics after his death; for without her generous assistance much of the little book s authenticity would have been unverified. To Miss Cornelia W. Conant, sister of the late S. S. Conant, I am grateful for the privilege of using some of her brother s letters written to Mr. Carleton. My thanks are also due to Mr. Hudson Maxim for permission to use one of his letters to Mr. Carleton; to Mr. Julius Chambers, who kindly directed my attention to certain phases of the poet s life concerning which he had a personal knowledge; and to Messrs. A. B. Bragdon, of Monroe, Michigan, and George S. Richards, of Toledo, Ohio, both of whom were boyhood friends of Mr. Carleton, and who readily contributed facts of the poet s early life. I am also indebted to The Bookman for permission to use parts of my article of Carleton contributed to that magazine and published in August, 1916.
