Excerpt: . . . 12 R4W Final Research Report Page participated in a religious program while in prison, which is roughly consistent with the percentage who identify themselves as religious. Almost two thirds also report participating in a work program of some kind, and over half report participating in an education program. Less than half received drug or alcohol treatment or counseling, though this also appears consistent with the percentage of participants who reported a potential need for these sorts of programs. R4W participants differ somewhat from the general population of ex-offenders. They are younger, more likely to be African American, a bit more likely to be male and on average have a higher level of education. Their extensive criminal history indicates that they will not find it easy to obtain jobs. However, they do bring some assets: Some appear to have supportive relationships with their family, some may be able to draw on their religious faith and the support of a congregation, and most have some experience working full time. This item ships from La Vergne, TN. Paperback.
